Anti-Bullying Week

Amy 6D

This week has been anti-bullying week. In assembly on Monday, Miss Stanley introduced this year's theme of 'reach out'. In PSHE lessons, classes have been discussing different types of bullying and what to do if they are being bullied or if they notice bullying happening. Classes have also talked about who they can "reach out" to and how. One way children can "reach out" in school, is by using the 'I wish my teacher knew...' box in their classroom as well as the same outside Mr McTaggart's office.

Bowls Competition

A group of Y4 children represented the school in a local Indoor Bowls competition at Falcon Bowls Club. They greatly impressed the regular bowls players who were there and displayed superb manners, sportsmanship and followed lots of new instructions really well. The club offers free taster sessions to young people who want to try out the sport on Friday evenings. Click on the link above to find out more and get bowling!

Our new Health Ambassadors have completed their training and have volunteered to support children to experience a healthy lunchtime (both mentally and physically) as inspired by our Children's Health Project characters. Thank you to all of them!

Y6 Remember

As part of Y6's enquiry into "Is War Ever Worth It?" - they were understanding the poetry from World War 1. Penny in 6V published this fabulous artwork to support John McCrae's famous poem and also wrote her own poem too.

New Deaths

Soldiers sick
But not of the swishing sea,
Wishing to survive to embrace the ones in love.

Shaking,
But not of the bitter cold.
The boat door slamming down like the lives of friends.

Each new death never forgotten,
Bullets tear through the air like torpedoes,
Bombs racing to their victims of death,
Pitiful cries haunted by the noise of guns,
Each new death never forgotten.
